ALESSANDRO SETTE, L'Albania nella strategia diplomatica italiana (1871-1915)

The article investigates all the phases of the foreign policy put in place by Italy towards Albania during the period 1871-1915. More specifically, it describes how the Albanian question influenced the path that led Rome to sign first the Treaty of the Triple Alliance with Austria-Hungary and Germany (1871-1882), then the agreement with the Hapsburg Empire for the maintenance of the status quo in Albania (1882-1897), and finally the Pact of London with the Triple Entente (1897-1915).
